Sections Should Rebuke Repudiation.

Government's Currency Is Good Now and Must Be Kept Good.

Their Duty.

BIDS FOR DEMOCRATIC VOTES.

"In the Contest," the Ohioan Says, "Patriotism is Above Party and National Honor is Dearer Than Any Party Name."

Canton, O., July 11.—Several hundred members of the J. B. Foraker Club, of Cleveland, came down on a special train late this afternoon to call on Major Mc-Kinley. Sixty women accompanied the club. In response to remarks of greeting and congratulation by D. H. Lucas, president of the Foraker Club, Major McKinley made his first speech since the Chicago convention, and his references to the action of the convention lent additional interest to his utterance. He said:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen and My Fellow Citizens:

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to my home city and to my home, and I appreciate more than I can find words to express the honor and the compliment of this call. I thank you for your congratulations and the assurance of support which you make for the great principles for which this year the Republican party stands. I congratulate you upon having for your name one of the most illustrious of our Ohio statesmen, Joseph B. Foraker.

My fellow citizens, recent events have imposed upon the patriotic people of this country a responsibility and a duty greater than that of any since the civil war. Then it was a struggle to preserve the Government of the United States. Now it is a struggle to preserve the financial honor of the Government of the United States.

Sections Will Unite.

Then it was a contest to save the Union.
Now it is a contest to save spotless integrity. Then section was arrayed against section. Now men of all sections can unite and will unite to rebuke the repudiation of our obligations and the debasement of our currency.

In this contest patriotism is above party and national honor is dearer than any party name. The currency and credit of the Government are good now and must be kept good forever. Our trouble is not with the character of the money that we have, but with the threat to debate it. We have the same currency that we had in 1892, good the world over and unquestioned by any people. Then, too, we had unexampled credit and prosperity. Our difficulty now is to get that money in circulation and invested in productive enterprises which furnish employment to American labor.

This is impossible with the distrust that hangs over the country at the present time and every effort to make our dollars, or any one of them, worth less than one hundred cents each, only serves to increase that distrust. What we want is a sound policy, financial and industrial, which will give encouragement and confidence to all, for when that is done the money now unemployed because of fear for the future and lack of confidence in investment, will quickly appear in the channels of trade.

Circulation of Money.

Gentlemen, the employment of our idle money, the idle money that we already have, in gainful pursuits, will put every idle man in the country at work, and when there is work there is wages, and when there is work and wages there are consumers who constitute the best market for the products of our soil.

Having destroyed business and confidence by a free trade policy, it is now proposed to make things still worse by entering upon an era of depreciated currency. Not content with the inauguration of the ruinous policy which has brought down the wages of the laborer and the price of farm products, the advocates now offer a new policy which will diminish the value of the money in which the wages and the products are paid.

Against both of these we stand opposed.
Our creed embraces an honest dollar, an undermined national credit, adequate revenues for the uses of the Government, protection to labor and industry, preservation of the home market and reciprocity which will extend our foreign markets. Upon this platform we stand, and submit its declarations to the sober and considerate judgment of the American people.

Promises of Support.

Major McKinley received the following dispatch from Chicago this evening:
"Over one hundred travelling salesmen, who have always voted the Democratic ticket, have to-day organized a club to support you and sound money. We expect to have fully 500 members shortly."

"GUSTAVE HOFFSTEADT."

O. W. Stewart, president of the Illinois Christian Endeavorers, telegraphed from Washington to-night that the Illinois delegation to the national convention would stop in Canton on its way West on Wednesday next to call on Major Mc-Kinley.

Among Major McKinley's callers to-day were Dr. Marsh, president of Mount Union College; A. H. Revell, of Chicago; Mrs.
Mary B. Coffin, president of the Michigan

ARTHUR SEWALL, OF MAINE, DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

SEWALL'S MESSAGE TO THE JOURNAL.

The Democratic Vice Presidential Nominee Believes the Silver Ticket Will Be Able to Carry the State of Maine.

CHICAGO, July 11.

To W. R. Hearst, the Journal, New York:

My attitude upon the platform is well known. I was one of those who signed the minority report in favor of Daniel, and think that act defines my position upon the issue of the campaign.

If we can undo the work in Maine which has already been done, I believe I will be able to carry the State. The State Convention of Maine has been held and has nominated a ticket on a gold platform.

The gentleman who is the candidate for Governor is all that can be desired, and he assures me that he will stand upon the platform adopted by this convention. We shall, under these conditions, fight in Maine with good prospects of success.

ARTHUR SEWALL,

Nominee of the Democratic Party for Vice-President.

Woman's Republican Association; J. S.
Martin, of London, and Louis P. Monash, of New York.

"FORGERY," SAYS BRYAN.

That Alleged Statement from the Candidate in the New York World a Fabrication.

Chicago, July 11.—Mr. Bryan is usually even in his disposition. But he lost his temper to-day. He saw his name displayed at the bottom of a false statement in the New York World. The statement purported to be an expression by Mr. Bryan of his views, given exclusively to that New York newspaper on Thursday, the day before his nomination.

When Mr. Bryan saw the publication, he was astounded. In it he was made to say things totally in opposition to his views.
It placed him in the attitude of driving out of the Democratic party all those who did not agree with the Chicago platform. It also made him say, "I am not a believer in either free silver or gold."

This coming from Mr. Bryan was startling, and on its face inaccurate. He lost no time in sending out through both press associations an emphatic denial. He declared that he had never written such a statement for any newspaper, and that the entire ar-tle was a fabrication and a forgery. Tonight he met one of the correspondents of the newspaper that had published the matter.

"That was an outrageous thing to do," said Mr. Bryan with the greatest excoite-ment he has yet shown since he came to Chicago. "That statement makes me declare against free coinage. It places me in a false position."

An effort has been made all day by the representatives of the World to "square" matters, and while Mr. Bryan wants no controversy, he has insisted that he be set straight. The publication made a bitter feeling among his Western constituents and friends. By the way it was considered as a deliberate attempt by an Eastern newspaper to stab a silver candidate before his nomination. There were curses, loud and deep, from these men, and especially among the Colorado and Nebraska delegates.

M'LEAN'S WEALTH BEAT HIM.
Bryan's Particular Wish, It Is Said, Was to Have a Poor Man's Ticket.

Chicago, July 11.—An Ohio delegate made the following statement after the convention adjourned this afternoon:
"The convention was adjourned last night because of an impression that the Presidential candidate thought it best to make the ticket a poor man's ticket rather than have a man upon it who was supposed to be wealthy. It required a combination of the Presidential nominees' friends and the Senatorial contingent in charge of the convention to force an adjournment last night and prevent the nomination of Mr. Mc-Lean by acclamation."

"Mr. McLean saw Mr. Bryan last night and told him that he would not put himself in the way to embarrass him, but would only notify his friends that he was not a candidate, which he did. He sent repeated messages to the convention to withdraw his name, and this was at length done, when he had the highest number of votes of any man balloted for up to that time, and when the nomination was plainly within his grasp."

TELLER PRAISES BRYAN.

Little Doubt That the Colorado Senator Will Support the Chicago Convention Nominee.

Pueblo, Col., July 11.—Senator Teller last night stated to a reporter his views regarding the nomination of ex-Representative Bryan in the following interview:

"What do you think of Mr. Bryan's nomination?"

"I consider the nomination an exceptionally strong one. Bryan is an able man, of high character, a strong friend of silver and close to the people. He will make an excellent President."

"Do you think he can secure the support of the silver men who left the St. Louis Convention?"
"The men who left the St. Louis Convention will make the silver question paramount to all others. It is not a question of politics with them, but of principle. I am not at liberty to speak for them at this time, as I have received several telegrams concerning a conference to be held shortly, asking me to withhold any expression of their views until after such conference."

"I believe you have said that if a silver man were nominated at Chicago all the friends of silver should act together in his support."
"Yes, I said we must, for this campaign at least, overlook all minor differences and put the country on a sound financial system that recognizes gold and silver as the money of the constitution. To that end all the energies of the silver men should be bent. I am still of that opinion and hope to see it done. In that event I shall feel confident of success."

MAINE DELEGATES OBJECT

Three Protest to Chairman White Against Their Votes Being Recorded for Sewall.

Chicago, July 11.—The action of the Maine delegation in voting solidly for Mr.
Sewall for Vice-President is resented by some of the delegates from that State, and to-night the following telegram was sent to Chairman White with a view to correcting the permanent record of the convention:

"Please take notice that the undersigned members of the Maine delegation have not attended to-day's proceedings, and authorized no one to vote for them on a candidate for Vice-President."

SILVER TO CARRY THE WAR INTO WALL STREET.

Democratic National Committee Decides to Attack the Gold Tiger in Its Lair.

Thus It Is Proposed to Demonstrate the Strength of the Movement to New York Financial Men and Voters.

Candidate Bryan Promises to Keep the Republicans of the East So Busy That They Will Have No Time To Fight for Western States.

"I am in favor of carrying the war into Africa. Let us begin our campaign in New York and the East, and demonstrate our strength among the voters of that section."
GOVERNOR STONE, OF MISSOURI.

Journal Headquarters, Palmer House, Chicago, July 11.—The Democratic National Committee, comprising the old and new members, held a meeting at the Palmer House this afternoon. Senator White, permanent chairman of the convention, and chairman of the Committee on Notification, was present.

It was decided that the nominees for President and Vice-President ought to be present, for the purpose of consultation, and they were sent for. The doors were open, and about half of the members of the Notification Committee, together with a score of newspaper men, were present.

Candidate Bryan was greeted with hearty applause upon his entrance. Mr. Sewall got into the room without attracting any attention, as he was known to only a few of those present outside of the members of the National Committee. On motion of General Blair, of Kansas, resolutions were adopted extending the thanks of the old committee to Chairman Harrity and Secretary Sheerin for their faithful and efficient services and for the fairness and impartiality with which they had conducted the preliminary proceedings of the convention.

Mr. Harrity returned thanks. He said his association with the committee had been pleasant ever since his first connection with it; that when he was made chairman he determined to be guided by fairness in all his functions. He was gratified to know that he had succeeded.

Mr. Sheerin, after returning his thanks, expressed regret at having to sever his relations with the committee.

Many Members Absent.

It was then decided to effect a temporary organization of the new committee. Mr.
Harrity was made temporary chairman and Mr. Sheerin secretary. A call of the roll of the new committee developed that the members from the gold States had, with the exception of Mr. Harrity, absented themselves. Nobody responded for New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island nor Wisconsin.

It became manifest that there was a feeling of uneasiness at the presence of newspaper men, so an executive session was declared, and on motion of Mr. Clayton, of Alabama, all persons not members of the organization and committee were requested to retire.

When the doors were closed and quiet restored, Governor Stone, of Missouri, delivered a red-hot silver speech. He referred to the absence of the members for certain States and said the Democracy as organized in Chicago would show these States that they had behaved like spoiled children.

At the unanimous request of those present Mr. Bryan made a short speech. He expressed confidence in the success of the movement for monetary reform, and with emphasis declared that he wanted to open the campaign in New York City, right in sight and sound of Wall Street. "Let us," he said, "attack the tiger in his lair."

He said that free silver was as strong in the East as in the West, and he was ready and willing to stake the result of his success upon a struggle in the East. He asked nothing better than to open the campaign in New York, and if the committee gave its consent he promised to keep the Republicans so busy east of the Alleghenies that they would not have time to fight for the Western States.

Favored by Sewall.

This bold proposal of the candidate was loudly applauded.

Mr. Sewall spoke briefly, saying he fully concurred with the plan of campaign proposed by Mr. Bryan.

Senator White delivered a vigorous speech, applauding the courage of the Presidential candidate, and offering his services in behalf of the ticket during the entire campaign.

Senator Pasco spoke in a similar strain.
He said the Solid South would take care of itself and cast all its Electoral votes for Bryan and Sewall. The members of both committees briefly approved the proposition to begin the canvass in the East.

Mr. Harrity, of Pennsylvania, expressed his willingness to aid in the canvass. He made no predictions as to victory.

The meeting then took a conversational turn, during which suggestions were made by Mr. Bryan.

Senator White proposed that both candidates be notified at the same time and that, instead of having committees visit the homes of Messrs. Bryan and Sewall respectively the proceedings take place in Madison Square Garden, New York.
This proposition met with the cordial approval of all present.

The members of the National Committee took a recess until 9 p. m., leaving the Notification Committee and the candidates to arrange the details of the silver assault upon Wall Street.

For the Big Meeting.

The plan is to invite the public generally to attend the Notification Committee at Madison Square Garden. All the members of the National Committee will be present, as well as those of the Notification Committee. A sub-committee of seven, consisting of Senator White, chairman, and Messrs. J. W. Plafsted, of Maine; H. W.
Master, of Illinois; John K. Shuman, of Tennessee; Elliott Danforth, of New York; T. J. O'Donnell, of Colorado, and L. B.
Holden, of Ohio, was appointed to complete the details. They will meet Mr.
Bryan in his room at the Clifton House at 9 a. m. on Monday to fix upon a date and other details for the New York meeting. It will take place about three weeks hence. Madison Square Garden will be rented for the occasion.

Senator White, as chairman of the Notification Committee, will deliver his first speech. He will formally notify Messrs.
Bryan and Sewall of their nomination.

Mr. Bryan, in accepting the nomination will make the greatest effort of his life.
He will address his arguments to the New Yorkers, and the voters of the East, and endeavor to persuade them that free silver means prosperity for them as well as for the West. It is believed by the candidate and the organization of the silver campaign, that this contemplated attack upon gold in every section where it rules preme, in a financial sense, will be productive of great good. It will thus be seen that the silver Democrats have overturned another precedent—that of visiting and notifying nominees at their homes.
But the men who are to run this campaign declare that they care nothing for precedent; that they believe a majority of the voters is with them, and they intend to present their claims in every section of the country.

Candidate Bryan expects to deliver many speeches during the campaign. He will not wait for the voters to visit him, but will take the road for them.

CABINET MEMBERS DAZED.

Men Who Surround Cleveland Hesitate as to the Advisability of a Second Ticket.

Washington, July 11.—The Administration leaders are still in a dazed condition.
They were fully prepared for a free coinage platform, but they have not decided what position they shall assume toward it.
None of the men of influence who surround President Cleveland approves either the candidate or the platform adopted at Chicago. They do not hesitate in private conversation to say so, but they are undetermined whether it were better to nominate a second ticket representing gold standard views or combine with the Republicans in support of McKinley.

Generally speaking, a second ticket is thought to be inadvisable. It is feared that by dividing the gold standard vote the cause itself would be placed in jeopardy.
It is argued, on the other hand, that this would prove a source of strength to the gold standard, inasmuch as many gold Democrats would give their adhesion to such a ticket who might otherwise vote for Bryan as a matter of party loyalty.

There is a disposition on the part of some of the Administration leaders to await the report of the New Yorkers, particularly Messrs. Whitney, Flower and others who returned East yesterday. It is thought that since these gentlemen spent a week at Chicago, mingling freely with representative men in both wings of the party, they are better fitted to judge the line of policy to be followed than those at Washington, who are dependent for their information upon the daily press.

There are unmistakable signs that this question of nominating a gold Democratic candidate is one to which the Administration leaders will give careful consideration during the next few weeks. They will endeavor to be guided by the best interests of the gold standard, and this consideration will influence their course to the exclusion of all other considerations.
